REASONS EVERY RETAILER SHOULD SELL BOOKS

1

Books on display pull people into the store and keep them there longer.

A clever book such as Animal House can keep an otherwise bored companion occupied while their friend shops. Each minute that someone remains in the store is another minute where the chances of them purchasing increases. Books anchor people in the store!

2

Books properly cross-merchandised around the store provide a visual context for all the other products that the store sells.

A display of products such as the Cat Yoga series gives character to a display. Books help sell other products!

Books keep on selling other products even after they are sold.

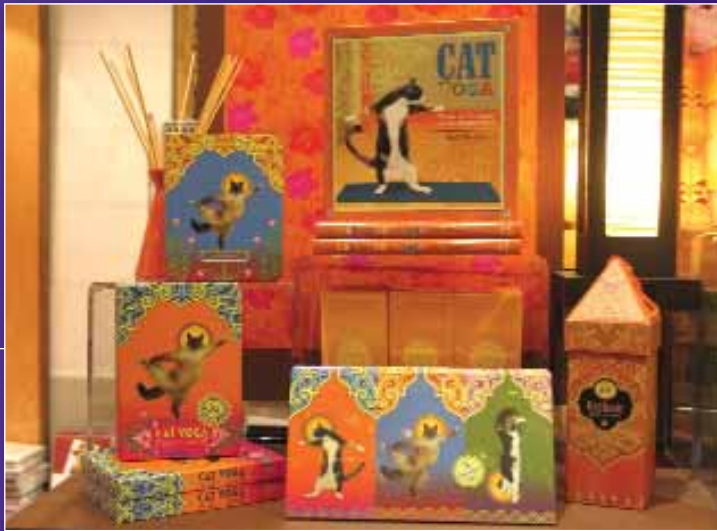

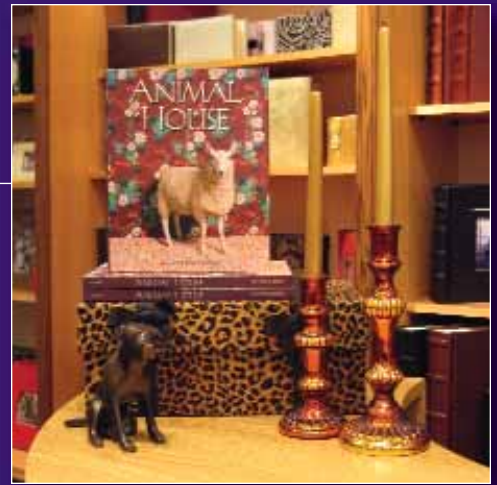

The Civilized Shopper's Guide to Florence will continue inspire the consumer to reinvent their personal space and return to the store for more home decor items. Books keep selling long after they are purchased!

Random House books sell themselves. They pay for their own real estate and are a great profit center for the retailer.

Random House has the hottest properties and giftbooks such as the French Women series, 1001 series, Dr. Seuss, P. Allen Smith, and Cesar Millan. We have a book for everyone and every store. NONE of the other lines that these stores carry can sell ALL the other products that the store carries as effectively as BOOKS!
